

Information sheet regarding webcast for an extraordinary general meeting

Cadeler A/S (the "Company") will hold an extraordinary general meeting on 14 July 2023 with the possibility of attending in person. However, the Company will also make a live webcast through Microsoft Teams of the extraordinary general meeting available to the shareholders of the Company requesting access hereto. To the extent shareholders so request, the webcast will make it possible for shareholders to follow the extraordinary general meeting and ask questions in connection with this.

It will not be possible to formally attend and vote via the webcast. It is encouraged that votes instead be cast in advance of the extraordinary general meeting by proxy or voting by correspondence. Reference is made to the notice to convene an extraordinary general meeting for more information in this regard. The notice to convene is available on the Company's website: <https://www.cadeler.com/en/investor-relations/general-meetings>

To access the webcast, the shareholder must observe the following:

1. Submit a written request via email to InvestorRelations@cadeler.com no later than Monday, 10 July 2023 at 23:59 (CEST)

Shareholders who wish to participate in the webcast must submit a written request via email to InvestorRelations@cadeler.com. The Company kindly asks that you identify yourself as shareholder of the Company in the email.

2. Participation in the webcast

After submitting the written request, any shareholders entitled to participate in the extraordinary general meeting will receive an invitation for the webcast via email.

To join the meeting, the shareholder may either click "click here to join the meeting" to participate through Microsoft Teams via a computer or the mobile app.

Personal data

The Company processes personal information about its shareholders as part of the administration of the Company's register of shareholders and other communications. The following information is processed: Name, address, contact information, shareholding and participation in events. Furthermore, the extraordinary general meeting may be transmitted by webcast. You can read more about how the Company processes personal information in the Company's information sheet on data protection in connection with general meetings, which is available on the Company's website, <https://www.cadeler.com/en/investor-relations/general-meetings>.

Please reach out to InvestorRelations@cadeler.com should you have any questions or technical difficulties regarding the webcast of the Company's extraordinary general meeting.